Hi, I am coming to you with a problem that my old pc (Dell Optiplex GX280) is not booting up due to bootsector corruption or partition table corruption and I need to repair it. The recovery disks do not support this and I do not have a Windows disk. I want to install Linux os on the old pc for an old project so what are my options here? I'm talking to a friend who said he can write a batch script that would reformat my partitions with command lines and then install on the old system. Is there anything like this already done or anything else that works? My friend is also a talented programmer and I would like to do this myself if I can. I am willing to learn so please guide. I'd be grateful for any help or suggestions. Thanks, -CB . How to install Ubuntu 18.04 Bionic Beaver on VirtualBox Aug 10, 2019 This applies to Ubuntu 18.04 LTS (Bionic Beaver). .
